

Welcome to Mysuru

DASARA SPECIAL EDITION

MCIL News Letter - 6th Edition (SEP -OCT 2022)

Welcome to Mysuru, a city replete with resounding stories as much as it is with alluring palaces and history, mythology and religious monuments, temples, mosques and churches of brilliant splendor. It is a city you cannot take in a day, but reciprocally, in just a day, the city will overwhelm you and leave you breathless: By the depth of time that has been etched all over the city in various art forms, buildings and temples and palaces. The city stands a testimony to original and native Indian charm. It might be a bustling city with industries and the IT sector making its presence felt, it might just be a few hours' drive from Bengaluru, the fastest growing metropolis in the world with over 10 million people yet Mysuru miraculously remains untouched by the wayward infection of tumultuous crowds, the insane pace of living and the general pressure that big cities inflict on their denizens..

Mythology adds to the enigma of this city. From the Mysuru Palace to Chamundi Hills to Srirangapatna, there are hundreds of nooks and corners that will enamor and enthrall you. The stories of valor and bravery by royal kings and soldiers of rank, of the nurturing of art and culture by men of stature and farsightedness-all tend to make you fall in love with the city at first sight.

Mysurians are one of the most delightfully, friendly people in the country owing perhaps to the culturally, rich back ground of the city. They will be willing to go out of their way to help you. And that makes Mysuru a remarkable place to see and be in. Everything about Mysuru is original - from its famed Mysore GI Tag that is a prefix to the best of things- from the ubiquitous Masala Dosa to the much coveted Silk Saree, from the sickeningly sweet sweetmeats to the aromatic and beguiling jasmine.

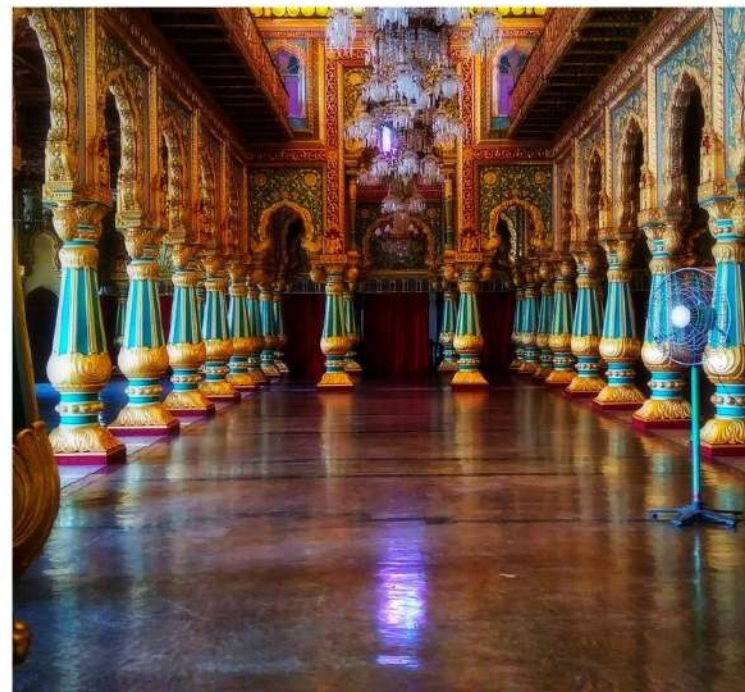

Mysuru has a naive and cozy, laidback attitude that is soothing and refreshing for many. It remains entrenched in tradition and culture that is very Indian, very South Indian. A royal connection may lend it some awe and grandeur. But in reality the city is a living, breathing metaphor of an evolution that has symbolized Indian culture through the centuries. Every part of Mysuru oozes of traditional roots.

And when you have had the fill of the city, the bonus is in the verdant jungles of Bandipur Tiger Reserve and the Rajiv Gandhi National Park. It is befitting for Mysuru that it gives the tourist so much more in just a few hours' drive from the city. Chances are you will spot the elusive tiger as easily as you might spot the deer's and antelopes.

Welcome to Mysuru. Enjoy your stay. Have fun. And when you go back, make time and may you take back a little of the Mysuru magic to stay with you always.

While many corporate real estate leaders have put new construction projects on hold post the pandemic, they are focusing instead on re-purposing existing space and retrofitting it to meet the changing needs of the workforce. That includes reducing the number of private offices and re-configuring large conference rooms that will likely host fewer people in person with several team members joining remotely.
